The Matrimonial Question.

The APPEAL calls the attention of the batchelors in the Legislature to the fact that there are in Carson more really delightful marriageable ladies than any other town in the State.

It also casually mentions the fact that there was never a Legislature in the State which presented such a desirable field of matrimonial pickings as the present gathering of the Silver men.

It is probably because a man with sufficient enterprise to get up and shake off the dust of the old parties and start in with a new deal is an enterprising, go ahead man all through. A woman looking for a husband need look no further.

In a few days the APPEAL Homographic Chart will be out and each batchelor has been marked with an asterisk, so that a lady in glancing over the list can see at once who are the married and unmarried men and govern herself accordingly. This is an era of State development and everybody should help build up the commonwealth.

The New York Clipper places Co. E., the Carson Guard, at the top of the world's record for rifle shooting.

The seats for the forthcoming prize fight are already being grabbed up and interested parties go every day to see the principles punch the bag.

There is much rejoicing throughout the silver States of the West, says the Grand Junction Star, that the St. Louis Republic has joined in the fight for the free and unlimited coinage of silver. A few more such defections in journalism will cripple greatly the power of the goldbug press of the east.

The bill providing for calling a constitutional convention contains one section which should be amended or stricken out. It is the one providing that all the printing required under the act shall be done at the State Printing office. This is not treating the newspapers of the State right and is without a precedent. It may be intended in the interest of economy. If it is it is practicing economy with a vengeance.—Silver State.
